WORKSHOP

Introduction to PubMed

Tuesday, March 31, 2020
10:00 – 11:00 AM

Library of Science and Medicine Conference Room

Meredith Parker
Life Sciences Instruction Librarian

Are you looking for biomedical literature? Attend this workshop to learn more about basic search strategies in PubMed, the premier database of biomedical and life sciences literature maintained by the U.S. National Library of Medicine. This workshop will highlight effective search tips and strategies within the unique context of PubMed, including limiting search results, accessing full-text articles, searching for specific authors, citations, or source types, saving searches, and more.
