

The Big Read

FILM SCREENING AND PANEL

Panel Event:

April 1, 2017
4:00 p.m.

Robeson Center
Essex Room
Rutgers University–Newark

Expanding upon one of the themes in Tayari Jones's novel, Silver Sparrow, this panel session explores how, in the larger racial politic, hair influences perceptions of beauty and personal identity.

ALSO OF INTEREST:

Natural Hair Care Demonstration
by Khamit Kinks (Brooklyn, NY)

Stylist: Anu Prestonia, founder of Khamit Kinks
Robeson Center, Essex Room
1:00 p.m.–1:45 p.m.

Anu Prestonia, filmmaker and founder of Brooklyn's Khamit Kinks • Jane Carter, founder of Jane Carter Solutions • Farah J. Griffin, William B. Ransford professor of English and comparative literature and African American Studies, Columbia University • Noliwe Rooks, chair of Africana Studies, Cornell University • Lori Grier, manager, Financial Planning Analyst for Otsuka Pharmaceuticals Companies

WOMEN IN MEDIA - NEWARK

Cosponsored by John Cotton Dana Library,
Rutgers University–Newark, and Women in Media–Newark

Questions?

Contact Ann Watkins, 973-353-3809, ann.watkins@rutgers.edu

RUTGERS
University Libraries