

Recent Faculty
Publications

Now available...

Introducing Articles+, a new way to search for articles

The Rutgers Libraries are pleased to introduce Articles+, a new tool that allows you to search for articles – and more – from hundreds of library databases using a single search box. Articles+ provides access to journals, newspapers, and magazines from a variety of major publishers and content providers. It also offers book chapters, conference papers, dissertations, and reviews. More on this story

2014 Celebration of Recently Published Faculty Authors: Exhibition opens Wed. March 26th

The Libraries eleventh annual Celebration of Recently Published Faculty Authors exhibition and reception honors the recent publications of Rutgers faculty. The exhibition opening reception will be held Wednesday March 26th, from 5:00 - 7:00 pm, in the atrium, on the lower level of the Alexander Library. More on this story

Douglass Library class space: multi-media rich and fully handicapped accessible

Eric LeGrand needed a room that was well equipped with multimedia – a wall-size monitor, video playback equipment, stereo sound system, computer with wireless keyboard and mouse, and other accoutrements. Yet the room, and the facility it is located within, also had to accommodate his wheelchair – that entails a ramp to the entrance, elevators, and wide entry doors throughout the building. One study space successfully combines both features – the group screening room in the Media Center of the Douglass Library. More on this story

Spotlight

Oxford Bibliographies Online: Renaissance & Reformation

Oxford Bibliographies Online offers specially commissioned annotated bibliographies by scholars in Renaissance and Reformation Studies. Books and articles are listed, with some digital content described too. Bibliographies fall in many areas, including Art History, History, English Language and Literature, French Language and Literature, Italian Language and Literature, Law, Religion, History of Science, and Music. Additional bibliographies are being prepared. To access this resource, click here

Health Reference Center Academic

A collection of general interest health and fitness magazines, medical and professional periodicals, reference books and pamphlets. Includes some full-text articles. To access this resource, click here A companion database, Health & Wellness Resource Center, may also provide useful materials. To access this resource, click here